

Making Sense of Mother Earth's Changes

© Maya White Sparks, 2013

The teachings of Nature Spirituality help us to make sense of the massive Earth changes and cleansings by water and fire that have been taking place around the world. The Earth, or Gaia, is a vast, interrelated, ecosystem or Web of Life that is nurtured and kept in balance by Divine Consciousness -- so that Life can continue to exist here. When things are out of balance, they must be set right. The recent earth movements and cleansings make sense when we think of how humanity spent the last century polluting soil, air and water; bombing the Earth, exploding nuclear devices inside and on the Earth, blasting land and sea with sonar, and spewing Co2 and other chemicals into the atmosphere, massively contributing to global warming. Who knows how draining the Earth of oil and other forms of mining are affecting Her balance? Habitat destruction has triggered mass extinctions.

Ancient and recent prophecies from native peoples around the world have foretold of these times of Mother Earth's cleansing, balancing, and healing. There will be more Earth changes to come, including the climate shifts that have also begun. However, the devastation to Humanity can be lessened if we stop our destructive ways and begin to live in harmony with the Earth. Will you help lead the way?

~ Maya White Sparks

revised version of an article printed in "Close to Mother Earth", quarterly newsletter of Spiral Grove, Halloween 2004, PO Box 24 , Stephens City , VA 22655.